Can't walk but he is still 'fit to work'

Benefits shock: Derek Carpenter had been told he was no longer eligible for Employment Support Allowance.

Picture: Richard Patterson 707233.

A CANCER sufferer who can only walk short distances has described as "a total travesty" new rules which led to his benefits being cut.

Derek Carpenter, 63, was diagnosed with prostate cancer in 2009. He received radiotherapy treatment followed by stomach implants to slowly release drugs to hold back the effects of the cancer, which doctors say is inoperable and incurable.

Mr Carpenter, of Atterton Road, Haverhill, had been a driver with the NHS, but two previous medicals ruled that he was unfit to work and unlikely to be able to return to work in the future.

Last week he was shocked to learn that a new medical introduced for benefit claimants had found him fit for work – and therefore no longer eligible for Employment Support Allowance.

He appealed against the decision, and his status has since been changed slightly, but he is still classed as fit to work.

Chris Darlington, benefits and finance adviser for Haverhill Citizens Advice Bureau, said Mr Carpenter's was one of 35 appeals he was working on for people who had been refused the same benefit.

He said: "The new medical is a lot stricter – and I believe it is too stringent.

"I have found a lot of people with severe mental health issues – depression, post traumatic stress syndrome and physical illnesses – having their benefits stopped.

"The manner of the assessments is not applying any common sense to serious illnesses. Almost everyone claiming has been affected and we have been inundated with clients."

Mr Carpenter said: "It is much too harsh and it is not just me – there are a lot of people in the same position.

"I was shocked at the decision – you really need to be in a vegetative state to qualify. If you can speak or move, you can work. They take no account of previous medicals and are saying their people – who only need six weeks of training – know better than my consultant.

"I loved my job, I didn't want to leave, but it was circumstances out of my control. I had worked and paid into the system, and people in my condition expect the system to turn round and support them. I am 63 years of age – who is going to employ me?"

His wife, Rosemary, said: "Derek can hardly walk, just short distances. He gets very depressed and all the stress of this is not helping him."

A spokesman for the Department of Works and Pensions said: "We have contacted Mr Carpenter to assure him that he will continue to receive the benefits he's entitled to."

He said the new Work Capability Assessment, which included evidence from health and disability groups, was seen as "a positive first step towards returning to work", and those found fit for work would get the help and support they needed to get a job.

He added: "Those found too sick or disabled to work will not be expected to, and will continue to receive the help and support they need."

Teen fitted blue flashing light to car

AN unemployed mechanic who fitted blue flashing lights and a siren to his Skoda car has appeared in court.

Kyle Lyons, 19, admitted charges of using a vehicle fitted with a blue warning light and a siren when he appeared at Sudbury magistrates court last week.

He also admitted a charge of using threatening words of behaviour towards another motorist.

The court heard that another driver had reported Lyons to the police after spotting him driving in Withersfield Road, Haverhill, last October with a flashing blue light and siren sounding.

The public order offence

BY JOHN GOODE
Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

arose from an exchange with another driver, who Lyons pulled up behind and got out of his vehicle. He was said to have told the other driver to “watch out for his car”.

Lyons, of Sperling Drive, Haverhill, was given a conditional discharge for 18 months by the court and ordered to pay £250 costs.

Tom Harrison, defending, said his client had been stopped twice before in the vehicle by police officers, but had not been told that he was breaking the law.

He had now removed the light and siren from his vehicle.

Pensioners in party spirit!

PENSIONERS enjoyed some new year cheer as they enjoyed a party hosted by their local Round Table.

Haverhill Round Table held its pensioners' party at Haverhill Arts Centre for the first time and it proved so popular that two sessions were needed to accommodate everyone.

The event, which drew around 240 people, was free.

Those who went along were treated to games of bingo, live music and a fish and chip lunch with a drink.

MP's praise for 'excellent' walk-in health centre

A WALK-IN health centre which was voted joint first nationally by its patients has been congratulated by an MP.

West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock offered his congratulations to staff at the Crown Health Centre in Haverhill for their joint first ranking in the NHS survey of patient satisfaction.

Mr Hancock said: "I am delighted to hear the news of this fantastic award. It is a tribute to all of the staff who have worked so hard to make it work and great news for the people of Haverhill.

"As somebody who has used the walk-in centre I can say what an excellent service they offer and how valuable it is to families and other local people."

As reported in the Weekly News last week, Naomi Cooper, practice manager, said: "It is an accolade we are proud of and reflects the dedication and hard work of the team here."

Parents' fight to save school gets 'free' nod

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

PARENTS fighting to keep secondary education in their village have won their battle to open a 'free' school.

The Stour Valley Education Trust last week became the first in England to be granted 'free' school status.

Clare Middle School had been due to close in July as part of a shake-up of Suffolk's education system. But Education Secretary Michael Gove has approved the trust's plans for the Stour Valley Community School.

The school, which will be state-funded but independently run, is set to provide 540 places for 11-16-year-olds by 2015.

Keith Haisman, chairman of the trust, said campaigners, who had been fighting the closure plans for four years, were delighted.

The trust would now start the job of recruiting around 16 teachers for September's intake of 210 pupils in Years 7, 8 and 9.

He said: "Now we have the funding, we have to provide the school and find the pupils."

"We have already got 200 to 300 people on our mailing list, who have expressed an interest, but parents have not yet had the opportunity to register, so special applications forms are going out to parents, who can register with us."

"We are an independent, state-funded school with funding coming directly to the governing body. This means we can choose where we buy our services and we may make economies by sharing services or teachers with other schools."

"Our maximum class sizes will be 27 pupils and we will recruit qualified teachers on national pay scales."

Mr Haisman rejected claims Stour Valley would be "competing" with other schools, saying it was simply offering "something different".

He said: "We are offering a rural environment, on a more human scale, giving more choice for parents. The proof of the pudding will be in attracting enough pupils and we are confident that we can do so."

The trust has already appointed head teacher-designate, Christine Inchley, currently deputy head at Manningtree School.

She said "This is fantastic news for the wider Clare community. The school will provide a new standard of education for 11-16 year-old students from both sides of the Suffolk/Essex border."

An open evening for interested parents with children in the existing middle school will be held at 7pm on Tuesday.

Special guests for Kerala celebration

MEMBERS of the Kerala community in Haverhill invited special guests to their New Year celebrations.

Around 25 families from the Kerala state in India have settled in the Haverhill area and get together for functions throughout the year.

A Christmas and New Year celebration was held at Withersfield Village Hall, when Haverhill mayor Elaine McManus and her husband, Paul, as well as Catholic priest Fr Michael Teader, were among the guests.

They were given a taste of the music, song and food of the Kerala culture.

Jose George, one of the organisers, said most of the families worked in the health sector, either at Addenbrooke's Hospital or Eastcotts nursing home in Haverhill.

He said: "It is the first time we had invited the mayor and other guests along to one of our functions, so we decided to do something a bit more elaborate."

"Most of us have families with young children, so we are kept very busy and that is probably why you don't see much of us in town."

"We hope to hold more functions like this in the future."

Police arrest trio after high street brawl

THREE people were injured and three arrested in Haverhill in the early hours of Sunday morning.

Police are appealing for information about the altercation which broke out in High Street at around 2.10am between two groups of people.

A 28-year-old woman and a 21-year-old man suffered head injuries, and a second 21-year-old man suffered facial injuries.

A 28-year-old man, a 20-year-old man and a 19-year-old woman, all from Haverhill, were arrested on suspicion of assault and released on police bail to return to Bury Police Station today.

Police want to speak to anyone who witnessed the incident, in particular a man and a woman who assisted the female victim when an ambulance arrived.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Darren Lamboll at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crime-stoppers on 0800 555 111.

Village libraries face the axe as costs cut

LIBRARIES are facing closure as part of a council's cost-cutting measures.

Libraries in Clare and Kedington are among 29 across Suffolk which are under threat.

Suffolk County Council launched a consultation this week in the hope that community groups may come forward to run them.

The proposals are part of the council's New Strategic Direction in which the county council will "divest" itself of some of its services.

The libraries consultation will run until April 30.

Cllr Judy Terry, the council's cabinet lead for libraries consultation, said: "We have an excellent library service in Suffolk. Despite the cutbacks we are facing, I want it to stay that way."

"For that to happen, we need to look for new ways of delivering the service. That's why it is so important that Suffolk's communities respond to this consultation and tell us how we can do things differently, and maximise the many benefits of Suffolk's libraries while reducing the cost to the council of running the service."

"The reality of the current financial climate means that we have no choice but to reduce funding to libraries by at least 30 per cent over three years."

"Should responses to the consultation prove disappointing, it is imperative that we make the necessary savings, meaning that we may have to close 29 libraries."

The full consultation document is available at www.suffolk.gov.uk/librariesconsultation2011 or at any of the county's 44 libraries or six mobile libraries.

Firefighters get call-out in middle of MP's station visit

AN MP saw firefighters swing into action as they received a call-out during his visit to their station.

Matthew Hancock, MP for West Suffolk, was touring Haverhill Fire Station in Ehringshausen Way when the crew on duty received a call to an incident at a school in Sudbury.

Mr Hancock was invited to visit the station, which re-opened last October following major refurbishment work to update and upgrade its facilities, by the Suffolk Fire and Rescue Service. He was shown round by senior fire officer Pat Dacey, given a briefing about current issues affecting the fire service and met firefighters and Fire Brigades Union representatives.

Mr Hancock said: "The fire service put its duty to protecting the safety of the public before everything else."

"Our firefighters do a brilliant job and one of the reasons I am keen to visit the fire service is to have a better understanding of their work."

"My priority is the safety of the people of Haverhill."

Haverhill is one of a number of fire stations across Suffolk threatened with job losses, and four jobs of its 14 full-time jobs could go as part of proposed cuts of £1.57 million to the fire service budget.

The town's fire station is due to go over to five-day, full-time cover from the present seven-day cover. Weekends would be covered by on-call or retained firefighters.

Fact finding: Haverhill fire station watch manager Paul Ricketts with Matthew Hancock MP during his visit last week.

Sentence looming after fight

A MAN is due to be sentenced next month for racially aggravated violence outside a pub.

Louis Woods, 23, was arrested after a fight with Polish men outside the Bell pub in Haverhill, on September 26.

He admitted a charge of using racially aggravated abuse and a threat of violence. Magistrates at Bury St Edmunds released him on bail until February 3, after asking a probation officer to prepare a pre-sentence report on him.

Woods, of Betony Walk, Haverhill, was arrested when police were called at around 1.15am.

Prosecutor Wayne Ablett said it was a "large-scale" fight involving a number of men.

The court heard that Woods had earlier been a victim of an assault.

Lyndon Davies, in mitigation, said Woods had got involved when he had initially tried to calm the situation and was himself racially abused and attacked.

"Clearly there was severe provocation in this case," he said.

Car club man held onto fees

A CAR club registrar has been given a suspended prison sentence after he admitted pocketing members' fees.

Ben Waldron, 36, of Strawberry Fields, Haverhill, took more than £2,000 in admission fees at the Deux Chevaux Club (2CVGB) annual Registers' Day event at Wood Green Animal Shelter, in Godmanchester.

Huntingdon Crown Court heard he did not pay in the 2007 takings of £2,170 until a year later, and failed to bank £2,506 from the 2008 event.

He initially claimed he had paid

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

the 2007 cash into a bank, but later said he had forgotten to pay in the money and left it in a tin under his bed. He blamed the bank for losing the 2008 takings, but later paid the club back £2,406.

Waldron admitted to two charges of theft at Huntingdon Magistrates' Court and was sent for sentence to Crown court where he was given nine months in prison, suspended for 18 months.

He was also made the subject of a 12-month supervision order and ordered to carry out 280 hours of unpaid work.

He was also ordered to pay £105 compensation, £750 costs and attend an alcohol treatment programme.

Det Con Becky Mainwood, of Cambridgeshire police, who investigated, said: "We believe he tried to cover the 2007 theft by using the 2008 takings."

"We think he planned to continue the deception by using the 2009 takings to cover the 2008 theft."

"The club is run by volunteers and this man abused the trust placed in him to gain for his own benefit."

Woman guilty of 'bottling' attack at pub

A WOMAN has been convicted of "bottling" another woman in a pub and punching a policewoman in the mouth.

Katie Dacey, 21, of Squires Court, Haverhill, had denied charges of causing actual bodily harm and assaulting a police officer but was convicted by a jury at Ipswich Crown Court.

The court heard the incident happened in Haverhill's Bell pub, just after midnight on January 23 last year.

Joanne Eady was hit on the head with a bottle when she intervened in an argument between her boyfriend and another man.

A member of the pub's door staff said they saw

Dacey strike the blow, the court heard, which left Ms Eady with a cut and a lump on her head.

After police arrived, both women were spoken to outside the pub before Dacey was arrested and cautioned, making no reply, the court heard.

As she was being led to a police van, Dacey began to resist violently and punched Pc Elizabeth Mangall in the mouth.

Dacey told the court she was "hopelessly drunk" at the time and had told police that she could remember little or nothing about what had happened, but denied being responsible for the assault.

She was released on bail and is due to be sentenced today.

Mine wasn't a 'no' vote

Sir, I would like to respond to Glynis Evans's letter of last week (Growth will give us prosperity). Firstly, I did not vote against the Wickes development and I did sign the letter. I became a councillor to help the people of the town and I believe I have been very supportive in that role. However, it is important to note that while the town council can make comments regarding a proposed development, the ultimate decision rests with St Edmundsbury Borough Council. If Ms Evans, or any other resident has concerns where I may be of assistance, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Peer is held in very high regard

Sir, The Conservative town councillors would like to congratulate Richard Spring, not only on being recently created a life peer but also on his choice of title – Richard Spring, Baron Risby of Haverhill (Baron Risby takes a seat in the house – Weekly News, January 13). It is a measure of how highly he regards the town of Haverhill and its residents – which I am sure played a huge part in his decision. It is obvious to those of us who shared the campaign trail with him, on both general and local elections, how highly regarded he was by the residents and businesses and this is, therefore, a fitting tribute to Richard and also an opportunity to promote, once again, this town of which we are all so proud.

We are delighted to now have Matthew Hancock as our MP and he totally supports the sentiments expressed in this letter. We are all aware of the tough times we are currently facing, and will face over the coming few years, but I believe we are resilient enough to tough it out and get through the other side with the Haverhill community spirit rising to the challenges. Richard and Matthew play their part in promoting and supporting this town and your Conservative councillors are grateful to them both for their encouragement, support and enthusiasm.

Last week's Memories photograph, from our archives, showed slimmers at the Queen's Head in Haverhill and was taken in February 1990.

Bob Tuck wrote in to say: "I believe the photo was from 1988 taken outside the Queen's Head, and was part of the HaverHeart Appeal raising money for a defibrillator for the Haverhill Ambulance. On the left is the late Ted Trebble, who was the appeal co-ordinator, and next to him John Cox, who was representing the service."

Julie Morse added: "My father, Graham Morse, far right, is in this week's Memories photo. My dad was the landlord of the Queen's Head from 1989 to 2004 and I believe the event they are posing for in this photo was a slimathon for local charity HaverHeart. "Unfortunately, I cannot identify all of the customers posing alongside him.

However, I do know that standing next to my dad is Dave 'Scratch' Spencer and, at the far left, is the late Ted Trebble."

Dave Spencer said: "Last week's archive picture was a sponsored slim by some of Sir, Through your letters page we would like to thank the Round Table for the meal that they put on for the pensioners on Saturday, January 15, and for the entertainment, which was very good. We would also like to thank the Sir, I would like to thank all the members of the Round Table for the wonderful time that was given to us pensioners on Saturday morning and afternoon, January 15. I am sure we all thoroughly enjoyed our time together, I know I did.

We are all very proud of the wonderful work that you do for anyone in need or the enjoyment of the people of the town. Not many places have the camaraderie and friendship that our town has. I came here at the end of 1956 and am very proud to belong to Haverhill. I know it has its ups and downs but it is a town where everybody pulls together in times of need to get things done. HAVERHILL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BUSINESS AWARDS 2011

Chamber giving business a voice

As the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce prepares to reward the best of local business, reporter JO DEEKS meets the woman at the top to talk about the chamber's mission and how everyone in Haverhill can get involved in this year's event.

MPs in the House of Commons and the leaders of the Bank of England are just some of the movers and shakers seeking the views of the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce.

And chairman Sarah Howard is more than happy to share the views of local firms – and sell the town as the perfect place to do business.

Sarah, now in her third year at the helm, last week helped to launch Haverhill's third triennial business awards – together with the Weekly News as media partner – which will be presented at a gala ball at Chilford Hall on Saturday, May 14.

As entries opened for the awards this week, Sarah has been speaking about the developing role of the group. Only last month she represented businesses across the county as Suffolk Chamber of Commerce's representative at a House of Commons dinner, with MPs quizzing her on what they could do to help the business community.

Sarah said: "They were all quite new MPs and were really interested in what we had to say. They really listened to us, it was not just a PR exercise. There were a panel of 12 of us and I was representing Haverhill and businesses across Suffolk."

“One of my goals has been to talk about Haverhill in a more positive light and publicise the town.”

"When I became chairman Haverhill was quite insular, with everyone outside looking in. One of my goals has been to talk about Haverhill in a more positive light and publicise the town."

"We do a lot behind the scenes – we have two members of the Abbeycroft Leisure Board, regular meetings with West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock and a very strong relationship with St Edmundsbury Borough Council. The changes made to give a more balanced housing mix for north-west Haverhill in the town's masterplan would not have happened had it not been for the chamber's input."

"But the chamber is not just for big companies. We have a lot of sole traders, and it gives them a voice."

As well as sitting on the Bank of England panel, Sarah is also a Suffolk Chamber board member and often talks up Haverhill's attributes at events across the county. While Haverhill may have suffered from a poor image in the past, she believes the only way to change people's perceptions is to go out and tell people what it's really like.

"When the Lord Lieutenant visited last year he had never been to Haverhill before, and he went away with a fantastic impression of the town, its businesses and its schools," she said.

"Haverhill is a town with a good spirit, David Cameron talks about the Big Society, but I believe we already have it in Haverhill."

Sarah, a director at Sarand, a software design firm based at Steeple Bumpstead, wants to get as many businesses as possible involved in the awards – and the whole community.

"We have two awards to be decided by public vote this time – the Employer of the Year and the Customer Service award, so everyone can have their say," she said.

"We are heavily involved with the Young Chamber and both upper schools. How many towns in Suffolk have two schools with outstanding Ofsted reports?"

Please have your say in our town's future

HAPPY New Year to you all!

Work is starting on Haverhill Vision 2031, a new strategic long-term vision for the town covering housing, shops, business, open spaces, schools, transport, health, social services, leisure and planning for new neighbourhoods.

There are several consultation events, beginning with a drop-in at the LEAP Centre on the High Street from 10am to 4pm on Saturday, February 12. Please come and give your views.

To find out more or to give your views, contact (01284) 757352/757368 or LDF@stedsbc.gov.uk

■ If you are thinking of setting up your own business this year, visit the Job Centre Plus bus in the High Street, opposite Market Square, from 9.15am-3.45pm tomorrow and then every other Friday. There's no need to book – just turn up for free advice and support.

■ The 18 secrets of super successful business owners will be revealed at a The Best of Haverhill event with entrepreneur Nigel Botterill at 6pm on Wednesday, January 26 at Haverhill Arts Centre.

Tickets cost £18 and include a buffet from students of Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College. Book on (01440) 710158 or haverhill@thebestof.co.uk

■ If you are thinking of training, this year, you can talk to the LEAP Centre. Contact them on (01440) 712177.

■ Congratulations to Samuel Ward for achieving academy status and to Castle Manor for being judged outstanding in a recent Ofsted inspection. Both Haverhill's upper schools are now rated as outstanding and are in the top 10 per cent of schools in the country.

■ Congratulations to C&B Beautiful, Queen Street, on opening a new beauty salon in Whiting Street, Bury St Edmunds. It's good to see Haverhill shops expanding to other towns.

■ Thank you to the local businesses, partners and the police in setting up Shop Watch, and the positive response from local businesses and members of the public to the increased police presence in the town centre.

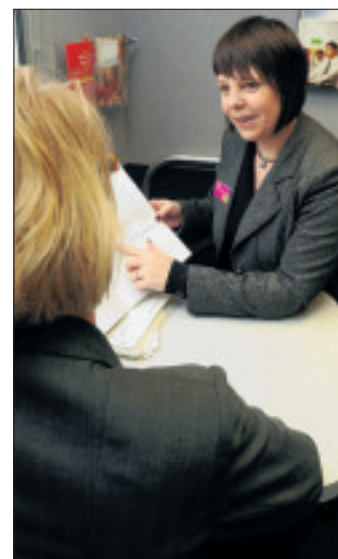

To join Shop Watch, contact (01284) 774499.

■ And, finally, a big thank you to Haverhill's very own Elvis, Darron Aldous, and to local DJ, Mick Pullman, for a splendid – and free – performance at the lighting of the Queen Street gates just before Christmas.

Haverhill

HAVERHILL'S University of the Third Age (U3A) recently learnt about the highlights among the artefacts and treasures in the Fitzwilliam Museum in Cambridge from Sally Sandys-Renton

As a Blue Badge Guide for Cambridge, Sally confidently introduced a wide variety of treasures housed in the impressive Fitzwilliam in Trumpington Street.

Her first slide was of a portrait of Richard, VII Viscount of Merion, the founder of the museum in 1816, bequeathing to the University of Cambridge, works of art and library, together with funds to house them. The actual building was designed in the Classical style by George Basevi and opened to the public in 1848.

The first artefact picture shown by Sally was of a stone tablet with the image of a deer scratched on it dating back to 12,000BC, by far the oldest artefact in the museum. A number of objects and artwork were then described, each with a few words to set the context – a Roman folding knife, predating the Swiss Army version by a few centuries, a 14th century Guan vase from China with blue colouring from Iran, a da Vinci sketch and a selection of Dutch masterpieces, together with impressive pictures of the mummy collection from Egypt. This brief lecture was sufficient to whet our appetites to visit the museum and art collection, which is surely among the finest in the country.

For the next U3A meeting on January 25, David Wetton will give a talk at the Haverhill Arts Centre entitled An English Narrow boat on the French Canals, starting 10.30am.

Alarm at farm scares off would-be burglars

TWO men damaged padlocks to break into two outbuildings on a farm, but were disturbed by an alarm.

munds Hill, Stradishall between 6pm and 6.15pm on Wednesday, January 12. The men left the scene at speed without the lights, in a dark-coloured car, possibly a Subaru or Toyota.

The first man is described as white, in his 20s, around 6ft 1in tall, of slim build with collar-length curly hair. There is no description of the second man. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Dan Steel at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

A MOTORIST was taken to hospital on Tuesday after his van left the road and ended up on its side in a field. The man was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital with chest pains but his condition was not thought to be serious, a police spokeswoman said. The accident, which involved a white Volkswagen van, happened at around 5.40am on the A143 at Little Wratting.

Warning for teenager after assault claim

A TEENAGER has been warned about wasting police time after reporting an assault that had not occurred. The 17-year-old girl from Haverhill received a final warning for wasting police time, following an investigation into a report of an assault in Vange Place, Haverhill, on November 4 last year. After investigations, police determined the assault had not taken place.

Be the first to see Tangled – and help hospice

FAMILIES can enjoy a fun-filled afternoon with an early screening of the latest Disney 3D blockbuster, Tangled, in aid of their local hospice on Sunday.

Haverhill Chamber of Commerce has teamed up with Cineworld to stage a charity preview at the Ehringshausen Way cinema of the film – five days before it goes on general release. The screening is seen as a coup for a town the size of Haverhill and all the profits will go to St Nicholas Hospice Care.

Tickets are £10, including free 3D glasses, with free entry into a prize draw for free family cinema tickets and children's entertainment before the show.

Doors open at 2.30pm and tickets can be bought from the box office.

Tangled is a reworking of the fairytale Rapunzel and tells the story of a girl with 70ft long golden hair, who is trapped in a tower.

Councils unite on colour plan

ORANGE has been chosen as the "corporate" colour for dustcarts and other vehicles used by two councils.

The new paint scheme will be introduced as new vehicles are bought by Forest Heath District Council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council, which have joined forces in a partnership to operate their bin collection and street cleaning services.

The councils currently have different coloured vehicles. Forest Heath's fleet is painted green and purple, while St Edmundsbury's vehicles are blue.

The councils have opted for orange with a white cab for all new vehicles, but existing vehicles will remain the same colour.

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A decision to adopt a "common branding" was taken in time for it to be applied to new vehicles which are due to be bought this year.

The councils are also considering having the same uniform for their cleaning workers, but a decision will be taken at a later date.

The vehicle colour was chosen after considering studies in Australia, Sweden and Loughborough University on the colour of vehicles which are less likely to be involved in crashes.

A joint report by council directors Nigel McCurdy and Sandra Pell said: "A common vehicle livery will make vehicles more cost-effective to procure and will promote greater sharing of vehicle assets, thereby potentially reducing fleet numbers."

As part of the same partnership scheme, the councils are pooling resources for street cleaning and are currently talking to staff about changes in work procedures and job descriptions. Changes are due to be made from April.

■ The two councils are also trying to save money by repairing more wheelie bins instead of scrapping them. The equivalent of 2,100 average-sized household bins were scrapped between August 2009 and November last year.

Cannabis offence admitted

A WOMAN who was the subject of a failed bid for a crack house closure order on her home last August has appeared in court for possession of cannabis.

Theresa Cassar, 45, of Hardwick Shopping Centre, Bury St Edmunds, appeared at Bury St Edmunds magistrates court on Tuesday when she admitted possessing 15 grams of cannabis resin at Boxford Court, Haverhill, last August.

She was fined £65, plus £15 costs, and magistrates ordered the forfeiture and destruction of the drugs.

Wrestlers get ready to rumble

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

COLOURFUL superstars of the ring are coming to Haverhill for a night of wrestling.

Those who have seen it on television can now experience the excitement and atmosphere of LDN Wrestling live. The family-friendly spectacular will take place on Thursday, February 3 at the Haverhill Arts Centre, with doors opening at 7pm and the first bell at 7.30pm.

Championship wrestling, full of sparkly costumes and audience participation, makes a return to the area after a 10-year absence. It is what promoter Sanjay Bagga describes as "sports pantomime".

He said: "It's live theatre and very much a family show with plenty of audience involvement. "There's Richard Parliament, who says he happily takes all his expenses and the adults boo. Then he proclaims that he wants children to go to school seven days a week and it's their turn to boo. It works on all levels.

"It's all about fun, excitement and atmosphere. The children bring signs for their favourite wrestlers."

The show will see LDN Capital Champion the Peckham playboy, Hakan, taking on Scotland's Rob Cage, Hertfordshire tag team Project Future (Riccardo Young and Bobby Hostile) are back together as they fight Bristol's Team Hate for the LDN Tag team championship.

They will also be two other bouts plus an over-the-top-rope rumble.

Audiences can boo the bad guys and cheer on their favourites, as they get up close and personal with the rip-roaring action. Post show, there will be the chance to meet the stars.

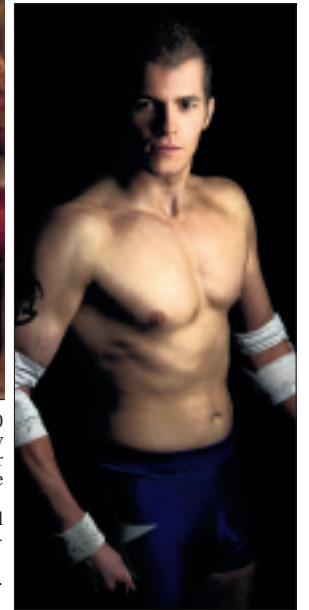

Tickets are priced £12, £10 concession and £35 for a family ticket. Call (01440) 714 140 or buy them on the door on the night.

The event is suitable for all the family with no age restrictions.

For more details, visit www.ldnwrestling.com

All the thrills: wrestling fans are set to enjoy the return of the colourful spectacle when it takes to the stage at Haverhill Arts Centre. Below, Alan Lee Travis.

JANUARY is a time for resolutions, and many of us will be thinking about losing some weight in 2011.

Slimming can at times seem a difficult and lonely experience, but it doesn't have to be, with a brand new Slimming

Tania Watson before joining Slimming World: Struggling.

ADVERTISING FEATURE

World group in Haverhill ready and waiting to help you through the hard days.

Slimming World's ethos is based on making lifestyle changes rather than 'dieting', as there are no foods which are banned, and you will never go hungry.

The Haverhill group, which started in October, is living proof that the method works, having lost a staggering 30 stone between them already!

The group's consultant, Tania Watson, knows only too well how it feels to be overweight, having struggled with her size for much of her adult life. She joined a Newmarket group of Slimming World last January, resolving to lose four stone, and has recently reached her target weight.

She says: "I can't explain how good I feel. I'm so much more positive, and it's fantastic to walk into a shop, like something and try it on, and have it fit perfectly."

Having trained as a Slimming World consultant she is now keen to help others reach their dream weight, with her class open to men, women and teenagers.

Group sessions last around an hour and a half, and have a welcoming, friendly environment. They encompass weighing, image therapy and plenty of time to chat with other members, sharing advice and recipes. Many members make friends for life, and find slimming much easier with the support of others.

Today: Tania is now the consultant at the Haverhill Slimming World group.

The Haverhill group meets at New Croft on Chalkstone Way every Wednesday at 7.30pm, and welcomes new members.

Grants cash to ease flood risk

MILLIONS of pounds to help tackle flooding is being distributed to the region's councils.

Authorities in Cambridgeshire, Essex, Hertfordshire and Suffolk will get a £1.4 million share of £21 million in grants to manage flood risk, said Environment Secretary Caroline Spelman.

The funds will cover the cost to councils of carrying out new responsibilities under the Flood and Water Management Act 2010, such as flood mapping and producing risk management plans.

Funding for 2011/12 will total £21 million, rising to £36 million for 2012/13 and subsequent years of this spending review period.

Ms Spelman said: "This will go a long way to help local flood authorities identify and deal with the risk of flooding.

"Each local authority can decide where the money will be of most use – it could be used to come up with plans for dealing with surface water flooding, or working with the public on how best to deal with flooding."

Speed limit to drop on A1307

BY CHRIS HAVERGAL

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

SPEED limits are set to be cut on the A1307.

Highways chiefs this week gave their backing to calls to introduce a 50mph limit from the Gog Magog roundabout to the entrance to Wandlebury Country Park, and on a stretch near Babraham.

A 40mph limit has been recommended to be introduced on the A1301 between Great Shelford and Sawston, and the rest of the route down to the M11 junction is expected to become a 50mph zone.

But the changes will need to be approved by Cambridge County Council's cabinet.

Parents have also received a huge boost in their battle to slash speed at a school crossing through Barton.

A 30mph limit will be imposed through Barton, plus a 50mph maximum at the southern entrance to the community and a 40mph rule on the north exit, where children from Grantchester cross to get to school.

Concerned families had submitted three petitions about the A603 and Monday's decisions went far beyond what officers had recommended.

Cllr Fiona Whelan, who represents Barton and Grantchester on the county council, said there was a "groundswell of support" for cutting speed.

She told a meeting of the South Cambridgeshire traffic management area joint committee: "It's very dangerous.

"We are encouraging children to walk or cycle to school but we are making it nigh-on impossible for children from Grantchester and that end of Barton to cross the road in a safe manner."

Cllr Tumi Hawkins, who represents Caldecote on South Cambs District Council, said: "The villagers know what they want – they're asking us to help them keep safe and I think we should listen to them."

Members also supported introducing a 50mph limit between Croxson and Wimpole on the B1042 and A603, and between the M11 roundabout and the entrance to Cambridge on the A603.

The same reduction is set to be made on the A1198 between the A428 and the northern Caxton bypass roundabout, in the Longstowe area, between Arrington and the A603 roundabout, near the Whaddon junction, and from Tudor Court to the A505.

Views sought on masterplan

DEVELOPERS aiming to create a prestigious research park in Haverhill are set to unveil their masterplan.

The draft masterplan proposals for the Haverhill Research Park will be revealed by Carisbrooke Investments at a community consultation event to be held on Thursday, January 27.

In line with council requirements, the proposal for the Hanchett End site, identified by St Edmundsbury Borough Council for employment uses, seeks to deliver an impressive "gateway" development to the town.

Plans for the site, which is located adjacent to the Spirit of Enterprise roundabout, comprise a "high-quality business and research park set within an attractive, well-landscaped environment, incorporating landmark buildings".

It is also proposed that around a third of the site should comprise a compatible mix of higher value commercial and residential uses.

The exhibition will take place at the Days Inn Hotel, Phoenix Road, between 2-8pm.

An unmanned display will be at Days Inn until Friday, February 4, and there is information on 0800 298 7040, plus a project website at www.haverhillresearchpark.com

Cash lifeline let couple start a new life down on the farm

Hardy: Liz and Stuart Matthews with some of the sheep which make up the 300-strong Skeldale Flock.

Pictures: Richard Patterson 696935

IT'S a bitterly cold morning. The wind, which is howling, appears to have blown in direct from the Arctic. Yet, undeterred by the inclement weather, Liz and Stuart Matthews are out in a field tending their sheep: the proud owners of a 300-strong flock, they visit them come rain, shine and, as is evident today, ice-cold winds.

Running a flock of primarily Rough Fell sheep – a hardy and ancient breed, which hails from Cumbria – is, explains Liz, a dream come true for them both.

This time three years ago, she was battling cancer, Stuart had quit work to care for her and they were utterly reliant on benefits; setting up Skeldale Flock, already famous across the area for producing top-notch lamb, threw them a financial lifeline – and gave their entire family hope for the future.

"When I think back, it is amazing how far we've come," says Liz, 59. "Running a farm isn't always easy; we've forgotten what a holiday is. But it is incredibly rewarding. And, in a lot of ways, it's given us our lives back."

Liz was diagnosed with cancer early in 2006. "All my life I've suffered with bad throats and swollen glands," she recounts. "Just before Christmas my glands came up in my neck but I didn't think anything of it really: you know what it's like in the run-up to Christmas, you're so busy running round and getting everything done; I just thought I was a bit tired."

"It was my daughter Penny, who was 12 at the time, who said: 'You've got lumps in your neck, mum. You should go to the doctor'. I had to take her to the GP for something in the January and she told him I had these lumps; I still thought it was nothing, but he said it could be something quite serious and wanted to do tests..."

The tests showed Liz had chronic lymphocytic leukaemia, known as CLL; a body scan revealed tumours in both sides of her neck, in her chest and in her bone marrow.

"I was told that you can never really get rid of this kind of cancer, that they never actually cure it, but that it can be kept at bay. I didn't go to pieces; I'm a positive person. But that's not to say there haven't been difficult times."

Liz, formerly a legal secretary, spent the next year having chemotherapy.

Stuart, a lifelong animal lover who then worked with horses, had to give up his job to look after her.

Among the many side-effects of her treatment, including serious fatigue, Liz says her bone density dropped dramatically – and she ended up with a fractured femur, caused simply by getting out of a chair. Her eyesight also suffered, thanks to an inflammation of blood vessels in her head.

"Penny's a very caring sort of girl. One day she was fiddling with my hair and a whole lot fell out," remembers Liz. "I don't think she ever quite forgot that and, coming up to her 13th birthday, she decided to shave her head for charity."

"It was in the paper at the time and she made a lot of money for the Teenage Cancer Trust. How can you feel down when you've got support like that?"

Now in remission, Liz says she and Stuart were determined to get off benefits as soon as possible. Having kept a few sheep as a hobby, they decided to scale up the operation and put it on a commercial footing. But, try as hard as they might, they couldn't get any financial backing from the bank; without a loan, there was no way they could afford to buy either the livestock or the equipment needed.

"There were times when I thought about giving up," admits Liz. "But, having faced the cancer, I was determined to keep going. James, our son, is training as a farrier and we thought it would be perfect to set up a farm as a family business. Just when we were feeling like it would never happen, I heard about Foundation East – and it gave us a £2,000 loan to get started."

An independent organisation, Foundation East provides loans for businesses that have been refused bank finance despite having a viable business plan.

As well as giving Liz and Stuart financial support, it has provided all kinds of practical help and advice too.

"We really couldn't have done this without Foundation East," says Liz. "I can't thank it enough."

Since securing the loan, Skeldale Flock – named after the veterinary surgery in All Creatures Great and Small – has gone from strength to strength. Starting with just a handful of sheep, Liz and Stuart now have almost 300 Rough Fells, including 11 rams, and a dozen Herdwicks, a breed favoured by children's author Beatrix Potter. (Having won numerous prizes for her Herdwick ewes in the 1930s, on her death she bequeathed 15 farms to the National Trust – stipulating that Herdwicks graze the land for evermore.)

A regular visitor to the sheep's native Cumbria, to meet other breeders and invest in new stock, Stuart has become such an expert on the subject he was recently asked to judge a Rough Fell show. And the lamb he and Liz are producing has already won an impressive reputation, with a loyal following of both customers and restaurateurs, keen to get the meat on their menu.

Over the last year, Liz and Stuart have branched out into keeping a small number of geese and pigs; the Skeldale Flock bacon was a particular hit.

The next step – for which Liz has secured a second Foundation East loan – is to open a farm shop on the main farm site, right in the heart of Barton, near Cambridge; Liz and Stuart also lease other fields, in and around the village, for their livestock.

"If you look after something, it will look after you," says Stuart. "It's the same with sheep: if you look after them well, they return the favour – by producing really good meat."

Although Liz still needs regular hospital checks and takes 'a whole boxful of medication' every day, and Penny suffers from the chronic fatigue condition ME, the Matthews say their family's future is looking bright.

"James is about to qualify as a farrier and he's got himself a building right opposite us," says Liz. "We've got the farm shop in the pipeline. And I turn 60 in 2011, too, so there's plenty for us to look forward to. I think it's going to be a really good year..."

Praise for drivers after fall in county road toll

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

FEWER people were killed or seriously injured on a county's roads last year.

Provisional figures for Suffolk indicate that the total number of serious road casualties was slightly more than 300.

A reduction of between 16 and 18 per cent on the 2009 total of 367 is expected when all the figures have been verified.

It will be the first time since 2007 that the county has reported an annual reduction in the figures.

The number of deaths on the county's road last year was halved to 20 – the lowest figure in recent years.

In 2009, 42 people died as a result of 37 crashes. The average for the past five years is 35 deaths.

The figures also show that the number of children killed or seriously injured in 2010 was the lowest in 10 years.

Chief Insp Andy Dawson, of the county's road policing unit, said: "It is pleasing to see that these figures have dropped so significantly.

"We have been working with our partners and reiterating our safe driving messages, which seem to have been taken on board by Suffolk's motorists.

"It is also likely that the severe weather at the beginning and end of the year actually helped bring the figures down.

"Although we get lots of collisions when there is snow and ice about, they are often at low speeds and not serious.

"Therefore, while we would like to take this opportunity to praise the drivers on our roads for helping to keep them safe, we want to remind everyone not to become complacent.

"The fact remains that 20 people lost their lives on our roads last year – and this figure will never be low enough until it is at zero."

Wanted: images of the people police would like to trace in connection with thefts from Peacocks in Haverhill.

Thefts caught on camera

POLICE have released CCTV images of people they want to trace in connection with crimes in Haverhill.

Two pictures relate to a theft of dresses worth £400 from Peacocks in Haverhill High Street on Thursday, November 25. Police want to trace a man in connection with the incident.

Another picture shows a couple police want to trace in connection with theft of underwear worth £10 from the same store on Friday, December 7.

Anyone with information about the Haverhill incidents should call the Suffolk police Crime Investigation Bureau (01473) 613500.

Tina's charity learning curve

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A HOSPICE welcomed a special visitor who was returning to her home district to get some fundraising tips.

Tina Pamplin, who grew up in Haverhill and now lives in Ross-on-Wye, spent a week 'shadowing' St Nicholas Hospice Care community fundraiser Ian Norris, to learn more about how a successful charity operates.

Tina is a trustee and voluntary director of fundraising at Salter's Hill charity, which provides services for people with a learning disability from its bases in Herefordshire.

During her time at St Nicholas Hospice Care, she learned how its fundraising team operates and spoke to a range of staff members about their jobs. Ian took her out in Sudbury and Haverhill, where she visited businesses and schools which support the hospice, and a local newspaper.

Tina, a former security investigator at a mobile phone operator gave up her salaried job in November to spend nine months working for Salter's Hill on a voluntary basis.

She said: "Spending time at St Nicholas Hospice Care has been a very valuable exercise, giving me an insider experience you couldn't pay for."

"It has helped me to really see the bigger picture, because Salter's Hill is such a small charity in comparison. I now realise what we should be aiming towards.

"One week here has given me stacks of ideas to take back to Salter's Hill."

Ian said he had enjoyed welcoming Tina to the team.

He said: "It's really been good to share ideas and hear how other charities operate. It's so valuable to keep on learning, so we can all do our jobs better."

Cheers: Kate Wood, landlady of The Plough, in Hundon, hands over the charity bottle to hospice community fundraiser Ian Norris.

Pub customers boost hospice funds

KIND-hearted customers and staff at a pub have filled a bottle with coins and notes for their local hospice.

The contents of the glass bottle, which has sat on the bar at the Plough, in Hundon for the last few months, totalled an impressive £268 for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

Landlady Kate Wood said small change put in by customers was boosted by a number of notes, some put in by boffins who decided to donate their pub quiz winnings, while staff had also put in their tips.

Kate and her husband, Kevin, chose to support the hospice shortly after taking on the pub. Kate said: "We didn't have a chosen charity but I thought it was important to support something local that helped those near to us. I then researched the hospice and saw what it does, which made me realise how vital it is. The hospice costs so much to run and it is important that it is supported.

"We're now into our third year of supporting the hospice. So far, not including the bottle, we have raised about £1,200." Community fundraiser

Ian Norris, who visited The Plough to collect the bottle, said: "The generosity of The Plough's staff and customers is greatly appreciated. Without the help of them and others like them, the hospice would not be able to continue with its important work."

The bottle has now been emptied and is back on the pub bar - ready for more donations.

Police rated in top 50 for gay equality

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A POLICE force has improved its ranking in the top 100 employers for lesbian, gay and bisexual staff.

Suffolk police are rated at 45 in the workplace equality index compiled by Stonewall, the gay equality charity.

The force was in joint 50th place last year and has risen 117 places since its first submission to the index in 2008.

The national listing was topped by The Home Office. Suffolk County Council was joint 48th.

Organisations are ranked according to criteria

Praise: Suffolk Police Chief Constable Simon Ash.

ranging from the implementation of effective equality policies and practical demonstration of good practice in recruitment and mentoring, to how they engage with lesbian and gay staff, customers and service users.

Suffolk's Chief Constable

Simon Ash said: "I am delighted with the constabulary listing in the top 100 in Stonewall's Diversity Index.

"The principles of diversity, inclusion and equality must sit at the heart of any truly modern and forward thinking organisation.

"Rising in the rankings so significantly is a fantastic achievement and a reflection of our commitment to being a supportive employer that values its lesbian, gay and bisexual employees.

"We aim to create an inclusive working environment for all our officers and staff, and to provide an inclusive service for all people of Suffolk, regardless of their sexual orientation."

Well done: Haverhill Rotarians hand over the trolley-load of goods to lucky winners Alan and Margaret Clifford.

Trolley good guess for winning couple

A FREE trolley-load of groceries was presented to lucky shoppers Alan and Margaret Clifford by their local Rotary Club.

The couple, from Haverhill, took part when Haverhill and District Rotary Club held its annual 'guess the value of the trolley' competition in foyer of the town's Sainsbury's store, on New Year's Eve.

They made the nearest guess to the actual value of £70.

The event raised more than £200, which will be donated to St Nicholas Hospice.

The club thanked all those who participated, as well as Sainsbury's for allowing the use of its facilities.

Earlier, Rotarians were out on two Monday evenings in December with their sleigh collection in Haverhill, which raised more than £750 towards Rotary funds, which will be distributed later in the year.

Siberian ballet stars to shine

An acclaimed Russian ballet company will blow in from Siberia this month to light up the Cambridge stage with three of the world's best-loved ballets.

Based at the Krasnoyarsk State Opera and Ballet Theatre in Krasnoyarsk, the Russian Ballet of Siberia is a classical ballet company founded in 1978 by graduates of the choreographic schools of Moscow, St Petersburg, Kiev, Novosibirsk and Yekaterinburg.

Later this month, the company will present three classic performances at the Corn Exchange in a magical weekend promising stunning sets, beautiful choreography, stirring music and timeless romance.

The Friday night will see a performance of one of the world's greatest love stories, Romeo and Juliet.

Lavish sets and costumes will evoke Renaissance Verona, with all its bitter family feuds, passionate encounters and tragic twists of fate.

Saturday will feature festive favourite The Nutcracker.

The fantasy ballet begins by a cosy fireside on Christmas Eve when, at the stroke of midnight, the audience is transported to an enchanting world where toy dolls come to life and a nutcracker is transformed into a handsome prince.

Sunday rounds the weekend off with the legendary Swan Lake – be swept away by an epic love story and be enchanted by Tchaikovsky's hauntingly beautiful music.

Naughty but nice

CAMBRIDGE'S hottest burlesque sensation is back – suspenders and all – for 2011.

Special guests Marianne Cheesecake, Desiree Kongrod and Des O'Connor (not THE Des O'Connor – at least, we hope not) will join resident DJs for an evening of music and variety entertainment in Salon Rouge on Saturday night.

With a focus on vintage glamour, dressing up is all part of the scene, so make sure you look the part.

For once, the night isn't sold out yet, so hurry and grab your ticket to the sauciest party in town. Tickets cost £12.50 and doors open at 9pm.

Next door, at J1, party like it's 2011 at the Late Late New Year Extravaganza. Organised in aid of Kidney Research UK, it brings together the talents of The Eye, Flash in Hand and Della Porta's, plus special guests. Back for the second year running, it's sure to be a blast.

Tickets are £9 (£4.50 students) in advance and the night starts at 7pm. ■ Club nights: Salon Rouge and New Year Extravaganza, The Junction, Saturday. Contact (01223) 511511 / www.junction.co.uk

Capturing life in the black fens

AN art exhibition focussing on Isleham is now on show in Ely

The exhibition, entitled Black Fen they call it, will showcase the work of photographer Justin Partyka at the Babylon Gallery.

In 1975, Virago Press published their first book, Fenwomen, by Mary Chamberlain. A pioneering work of oral history, it is a collection of interviews with women from the Isleham area. The book tells the story of almost 100 years of life in the rural village and describes the experience of women as agricultural labourers and labourers' wives.

The photographs in this exhibition will appear in a new edition of the book, which will be published by Full Circle Editions later this month.

Partyka visited Isleham last year and his large scale colour photographs create a contemporary portrait of the village over 30 years since the oral history was collected.

The exhibition will run until Sunday, February 27.

The gallery is open from Tuesday to Sunday, noon-4pm and entry is free.

For more information, call (01353) 669022 or visit www.adec.org.uk

The big film

THE GREEN HORNET
Certificate 12A 118m

OSCAR-WINNING writer-director Michel Gondry always refused to compromise his creativity on the big screen.

He conjured some memorable and offbeat romantic comedies of recent times (Eternal Sunshine Of The Spotless Mind, The Science Of Sleep) but, alas, has finally sold out into the competitive arena of blockbusters.

The Green Hornet resurrects the eponymous masked avenger and puts him at the centre of an illogical plot and a blitzkrieg of headache-inducing action sequences that strain the eyes in 3D.

A puerile script leaves no room for sparks of originality.

Indeed, if Gondry's name wasn't clearly emblazoned on the credits, you'd question if he was really behind this clatter of disparate elements.

Media magnate James Reid (Tom Wilkinson) dies from an allergic reaction to a bee sting, leaving his empire to his wastrel son, Britt (Seth Rogen), a mainstay of the city's hedonistic party scene.

The son forges an unlikely friendship with his father's driver, Kato (Jay Chou), and together they fight crime.

In his guise as The Green Hornet, Britt strikes fear into the heart of the underworld controlled by Benjamin Chudnofsky (Christoph Waltz), aided by Kato and his seemingly indestructible car, The Black Beauty.

The Green Hornet lacks cohesion, clumsily teeing up set pieces which include a ridiculous chase around the newspaper offices.

Kato's own version of bullet-time fighting, flooring his adversaries in slow motion, is visually appealing but turns out to be the film's only directorial flourish but Gondry's film can't buzz off quick enough.

It's the appeal of potatoes

What would life be without the humble spud? Can you imagine bangers without mash, fish without chips, Sunday roast without the obligatory roast potatoes?

Of the many vegetables you can grow, potatoes are among the easiest, yet the most rewarding. Those dug up and cooked immediately taste so completely different from the shop-bought varieties, which to me look like they've often been stuck in plastic bags too long.

As National Potato Day approaches, Philip Turvil, project manager of Garden Organic's Master Gardener programme, a volunteer network which supports people and communities growing fruit and veg, says there's no better time to start 'chitting' potatoes and to find out about the wealth of varieties on offer.

Start buying your seed potatoes now for chitting on trays or in egg cartons on a well-lit windowsill, but out of direct sunlight. When the dark green shoots appear on the tubers in four to six weeks, plant them in well-prepared ground, enhanced with compost or well-rotted manure and within a few months you'll have crops of delicious spuds to last you throughout summer and well into

by Hannah Stephenson

autumn.

There are some basic rules to follow to give you the best chance of success, he advises.

"Don't let the shoots on the seed potatoes become too long before you plant them out," he says.

"If they get too long, say four inches, they start to become leggy and may break off when you plant them in the ground. This will slow the crop down as the tuber has already expended so much energy producing the shoots."

Prepare your soil in winter, before planting your potatoes, he advises.

"They are really hungry plants, so add compost or well-rotted manure to the soil in January onwards and up to early spring, but don't overdo it. One wheelbarrow of compost for every 10 square metres is plenty," he says.

It is possible to add too much compost, he warns, which will encourage lots of dark green foliage at the expense of the tubers underneath. Dig organic matter into the top 30cm of soil where you haven't grown potatoes for three or four years and plant the tubers four to six inches deep, keeping them well watered but not waterlogged.

Early varieties, otherwise known as new potatoes, planted out from March to May, can be planted 30cm apart in rows 40-50cm apart and you should be harvesting them in June and July. Maincrop varieties need more space, can remain in the soil for longer and can be harvested in September and October and stored.

Of course, like all vegetables, potatoes have their enemies – slugs work their way under the soil and chomp through people's harvests. The secret to deterring them is not to just adopt one method, says Turvil.

"Use more than one technique. Maincrops are particularly vulnerable in September, so don't overwater them, which will encourage slugs. Wash a nematode drip, available from mail order companies and at garden centres, down into the crop. If you have to use slug pellets, choose organic ones, scattered on the surface."

Potato blight is another problem, so if you see signs of it – brownish-black patches on the leaves, which eventually wither and die – chop off infected leaves down to ground level.

Leave the affected tubers in the ground for a couple of weeks so that spores on the surface aren't disturbed, which could infect the rest of the crop.

"If you have potatoes which have been left in the ground from last season and then sprouted, or have been put on the compost heap, remove them because they can carry blight," Turvil advises.

"Also, choose good quality seed potatoes from a reliable source such as a good garden centre or by attending a Potato Day event, and check out the more blight-resistant varieties such as Cara, Valor and new Sarpo varieties."

Several websites, including www.lovepotatoes.co.uk and the British Potato Council, www.potato.org.uk, list new more blight-resistant types on their databases.

To maximise your chances of a good crop, spread a mulch of organic matter on the soil surface a few weeks after planting. If the emerging leaves have been damaged by frost, leave them on the plants, as they will protect the foliage underneath, he recommends.

When earthing up (dragging the earth up around the plants while they are growing), which you should do two or three times a season, don't cover the plants completely, he says.

"If you do that, you are effectively turning out a light, which they need to grow. Leave about two inches of the plant poking out of the soil."

While they are growing, it's better to water them thoroughly once a week than to water them lightly every day, as really drenching them will encourage moisture right down to the roots. However, don't allow them to become waterlogged or you can rot the tubers.

Early potatoes will be ready to harvest when the foliage dies down or when the flowers open in June and July, or earlier (the earlier you dig them up, the less chance there is of blight).

Maincrops are harvested later in the year and can be left on the surface to dry off a little before being put into storage. Turvil's maincrop favourite is Golden Wonder.

"The return from a single seed potato is so great. You plant them in March and within three or four months you have loads. Growing potatoes is something the whole family can enjoy with relatively little effort. It's incredibly satisfying."

This man was in the news every day for 15 years...

...he is a widower and he lives alone. Bill once ran his own newspaper and magazine stand but having retired, struggled to do his shopping and housework due to severe mobility problems. Help was a luxury that he simply could not afford, his only income being the state pension. Following a referral to NewstrAid, Bill was provided with advice which helped him secure additional income and a full rebate on his council tax. NewstrAid also funded a mobility scooter which allows him to gain access to local shops and amenities. A great many people are employed in the news distribution trade - some just like Bill are suffering from illness and others may have just fallen on hard times.

Marshall wins Pug iOn deal

AS Government support, media and public interest in electric cars ramps up, Peugeot has appointed 22 of its existing dealers, located across the UK, to sell and service its 100 per cent electric car, the new Peugeot iOn.

These "specialist" dealers are all geographically aligned to the 'Plugged-in Places' which will receive Government support to build the necessary charging infrastructure to support electric vehicles. The dealership for the Cambridge region is Marshall Peugeot.

General manager Ian Proctor said: "Marshall Peugeot is delighted to have been appointed as Ion dealers for the region and we look forward to bringing this very exciting new vehicle to the community in the very near future."

A 100 per cent electric vehicle is just one of the solutions for urban transport needs, running alongside a range of other technology that Peugeot will bring to market over the coming months. Call Marshall Peugeot on (01223) 377112 for further details.

Late finishers force Fish and Davis to settle for third place

ANDY Fish and Joe Davis looked in pole position to take the honours at the Winter Alliance meeting at the Bungay and Waveney Club.

They were the clubhouse leaders with 41 points, but were relegated to third place as the last groups came in.

The 4BBB Stableford was won by Bob Holmes (Stoke-by-Nayland) and Gil Mann (Brett Vale) with 43 points followed by. Steve Coonan and Russell Rayner (Waldringfield) 42pts.

Kevin Earp (Bury Golf Range) was the winning professional with a three-over-par 72.

■ Mary Sail won both events as Haverhill's ladies' section conquered difficult conditions to complete both medal events at Coupals Road.

In the end, she had three shots in hand in both competitions.

Details January 5: 1 Mary Sail 98-17-81, 2 Jacqueline Condon 103-19-84, 3 Doreen Darbey 113-28-85. January 8: 1 Mary Sail 94-17-77, 2 Lyn Fish 106-25-81, 3 Jacqueline Condon 102-19-83.

■ The wet weather brought a greatly-reduced field for the men's midweek medal.

But despite the heavy rain, only one of the greens was switched to a temporary surface.

Ten hardy souls took to the course, with Simon Price taking top spot with a magnificent nett 65 – five clear of his nearest challenger – which led to his handicap being reduced to by two shots to 16.

Details Division One: 1 Dennis Harkness 83-7-76. Division Two: 1 Simon Price 83-18-65, 2 Mark Carpenter

89-19-70, 3 Frank Robertson 90-18-72. Division Three: 1 J Morse 101-22-79.

■ The difficult conditions at Coupals Road were reflected in the scores for the juniors' medal, although Hayden Durrant needed countback to see off Lewis Whiting in a tight finish.

Details – 1 Hayden Durrant 102-27-75 on countback from 2 Lewis Whiting 84-9-75, 3 Liam Merritt 87-10-77.

Rory hits three to fire Wrating

West Wrating 6 Witchford Colts 1

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-14B RORY Jebb fired a first-half hat-trick to maintain West Wrating's push for promotion.

And, although he did not score it, he also had a hand in the ice-breaker after 15 minutes, heading down Harvey Scotton's corner for Harry Wilson to smash home from four yards.

The rest of the first half belonged to Jebb, who headed in Mark Coulson's cross for No 2, intercepted a goal kick to score the third and then completed his own treble.

Witchford pulled a goal back before the break but the West Wrating defence gave them little chance to get a toehold in the game and Wilson hit another before Ryan Cooper added a fine solo goal to complete the rout.

■ West Wrating are looking for more players to help their promotion push and anyone interested should contact Kevin Ager on 07769 706589.

Kedington 3 St Ives Rangers 0

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13C KEDINGTON stepped up their game in the second half to finally see off a decent St Ives side.

They found conditions tough as they played into the fierce wind and blinding low sun in the first half, but they managed to restrict the visitors to long-range efforts and then turned the screw after the break.

Kedington, with a change in formation, went for broke in the second half, ending the deadlock when Jamie Lingard tucked away Conor Rankin's pass.

Tye Alleyne smashed the second after a move involving Jack Ferguson, Steve Boyles and George Mustoe.

And Ellis Wiffen held off two defenders to fire the points-clinching third goal.

Haverhill Rovers 0 West Wrating 4

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-15A WEST WRATING arrived with a plan and left with the three points to cement fourth place in the top flight. They did the damage in the first half, charging into a 3-0 lead at the break.

Cameron Biggs scored the first two goals – both long-distance drives – as West Wrating turned the screw, creating several other chances as well as extending their lead through Tom Pinker.

Rovers rallied, though, and had a shot cleared off the line and another bounce off the crossbar before the turn-around.

But, despite the game becoming a lengthy midfield battle, Reds emerged to threaten again and another long-ranger from Biggs looked to have sealed his hat-trick and made it 4-0. But although the assistant referee thought the ball had crossed the line, the man in charge ruled otherwise.

A fourth goal did arrive, though, Matt Burley losing his marker to chip the keeper and put the seal on a good team performance.

Clerkin clincher points Hundon in right direction

LEE Clerkin netted the winner as Hundon got off the bottom of the Kershaw League, Premier Division following a 2-1 success at home to Ely reserves. Adam Salmons struck a 25-yard free kick midway through the first half to send the Robins in front before player-manager Rod Gaffan got the hosts back on terms just before the break. Clerkin (right) ensured a crucial win for Hundon on 70 minutes, poking home after good work by Jamie Mayes. Gaffan said: "The first half was quite even, but we kept our shape and battled away after going behind and dominated the second half." Ely assistant boss Dale Spring said: "It was quite a tight game possession-wise, but although we had more chances we didn't take them."

■ Stephen Jordan and Buster Harradine both scored twice as Milton thrashed Castle Camps 5-0 in their William Coad Cup quarter-final. Matt Fisher completed the scoring to set up a last-four clash with Soham reserves.

Higgs helps ease blow

Late winner caps comeback to take Rovers third – but they won't be going up this year

Haverhill 3 Hadleigh 2

Ridgeons League, Premier Division JACK Higgs struck a dramatic late winner as Haverhill Rovers capped a stunning comeback on Tuesday to snatch all three points and move up to third in the table.

After Saturday's 2-0 defeat by FC Clacton, things again looked bleak for Rovers when they conceded in the 31st minute.

United added a second early in the second half, but Stuart Wardley gave the hosts hope when he slotted home a penalty in the 71st minute after Liam Paton had been brought down by former Haverhill keeper Arron Benstead.

Marcus Hunt levelled the scores in the 77th minute and the comeback was completed five minutes from time when Jack Higgs struck from 25 yards.

It was the response boss Peter Betts would have wanted after the lacklustre display at Clacton on Saturday, when Rovers rather tamely surrendered their seven-game unbeaten league run.

Betts claimed they were complacent when, despite having the best of the opening exchanges during which Higgs hit the post and Dalton O'Brien fired just wide, they let their grip slip.

A long-range shot was deflected past keeper Matt Morrison in the 35th minute and the stopper was deemed at fault for the second a minute after half time.

The surprise defeat was the second blow of the week for Rovers, who remain fourth in the table. For, even if Betts' side were to finish in the top two, they would not be able to go up.

The club applied for promotion at the end of last year when it became clear they could be challenging for the top places.

But despite having a copy of their lease agreement and a floodlight certificate, their move to the New Croft at the start of the season meant they were unable to submit a copy of their audited accounts in time.

"It's disappointing, but we'll know for next year what we need to do," said Betts.

"We asked for a week's extension before the deadline, so we could get the accounts up to date but it was refused."

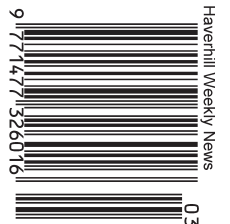

"To even be in that position by Christmas was great, and if you'd offered me that at the start of the season I would have bitten your arm off."

"But it's important to stay focused. We've got some hard games coming up, but if we can win the next three or four we'll really put pressure on the teams above us."

Rovers will have to wait before their next league game – they are not due to play again until January 29 when they travel to CRC.

Jack Higgs: Scored winner as Rovers hit back on Tuesday.
